

2021 EDUARD SHIRAZ

“This 2021 Eduard Shiraz spent two years in oak which has set it up for the long haul. Lots to love here. Brooding and dense aromas of peat, black olive, and dusty earthy complement a strong yet balanced spice of oak. Bold flavors follow with mouthfilling fruit and tannins driving a long, strong and structural finish. This will flower beautifully over the next decade or two”

“Deep crimson. Lifted blackberry pastille, dark chocolate, roasted almond, hint ginger aromas. Concentrated blackberry pastille, dark chocolate, mocha/marzipan flavours, plentiful loose-knit graphite tannins and a fresh line of aniseed. A muscular firm finish with lovely pure juicy dark berry fruits. Drink now–2036”.

“Grown on three vineyard blocks, the oldest planted in 1905, the “youngest” in 1973.

This is a Barossa shiraz with a bit of class to it. It’s warm and rich for sure, but it’s also structured and lengthy. It gives the impression that it’s ‘got this’, so to speak; it’s in control. It tastes of tar, malt, toast, rich blackberry and hay, with sweet plum and smoked cedarwood characters swooshing through the finish. There are rum-and-raisin characters here but it still manages to feel fresh, or fresh enough. And both the finesse of the tannin and the length of flavour are up there for quality.”
